

The ARFF Training Alliance, a joint cooperative between the ARFF Working Group and the American Association of Airport Executives will once again be presenting the ARFF Chief's & Leadership School.

Being an ARFF Chief Officer quite often requires you to wear multiple hats. In an effort to assist you or prepare you in conducting day-to-day operations, you must be well versed in management/union relations, FAA inspection process, FD/Airport management relations, along with a variety of professional challenges long before you respond out the door for an ALERT 3. Oh, and let us not forget the tactics and strategies that encompass our profession, we need to know the how, when and where while developing a game plan on what to do about it.

The ARFF Training Alliance ARFF Chief's & Leadership School will be held in Cape Coral, Florida, January 21-24, 2014 at the Westin Cape Coral. We look to provide topic areas of interest for Shift ARFF Officers, ARFF Commanders, Deputy Chiefs and Fire Chiefs. If you are interested in presenting at this years' school, please contact us for a "Call for Papers" submission form.

All classes will take place at the Westin Cape Coral. Each Student Registration Fee of $495.00 Includes:

- Welcome Reception
- Classroom Sessions
- Presentation CD/Website
- Tours/Demonstrations
- Certificate of Participation

Both organizations are extremely excited about our 8th joint program. It promises to offer some of the best educational opportunities to the ARFF leadership community. The ARFF Training Alliance, in an effort to help you meet the demanding needs of being an ARFF officer has compiled a potential list of topics which will be addressed along with other related topic areas.

- Leadership & Ethics
- TSA Interaction
- Airport Management Relations/Union Issues
- New Technology
- Recent Aviation Incident Case Studies
